DR Simulation

Dear Client,

Please be informed that on Saturday 7th May 2016 Monte Titoli will implement a Disaster Recovery Simulation, in production environment with real data.

The simulation will be run with business day Monday 9th May 2016. The simulation has been defined according to the recommendations of the Bank of Italy, the International Institutions and the standards of settlement service administrators.

A detailed report of the simulation will be sent to the supervisory authorities.

Monte Titoli would like to highlight that MT-X connection, X-TRM On-line connection and MT-A2A connection will be operative in Disaster Recovery and available for simulation purposes..

As concerns the connection way through MT-A2A we recommend to check, with the support of your technicians, the availability and connectivity towards Disaster Recovery.

To support this test activity, a planning document with all details of simulation is available on Monte Titoli website.

Due to the importance of this activity for the whole system, all clients of Monte Titoli are kindly invited to take part the test.

In order to take part in clients have to fill in a form with personal data of their representatives, as soon as available on www.montetitoli.it.

The form has to be sent by Friday 29th April 2016 to the e-mail address disasterrecovery@lseg.com
